Arrests up and Police Injured at Carnival

Whilst racially-sensitive officials praised the behaviour of crowds at the Notting Hill Carnival, police revealed that almost 400 revellers had been arrested, an increase of 23% on last year. Police seized 69 weapons, including a bottle of acid, and 30 police officers were injured and required hospital treatment. Because of its connection with London's black community the Carnival is politically untouchable. A spokesman for the Police Federation summed up the situation, "There is no other event in the UK where this would be allowed to happen each year". A shameful situation!

Defend Free Speech

As a racial nationalist I have absolutely no empathy with Britain's extreme-left Labour Party. But, the recent campaign by British pro-Zionist Jews to impose their will on the party is disturbing.

Their tactics have included attempts to split the party into pro and anti-Zionists and campaigns to smear and overthrow the elected leadership. Notably, pro-Zionists received massive support for their cause from a blatantly biased media.

Such interference in democratic politics will only build resentment and hatred. Free speech and tolerance of different political opinion is a British value which must be preserved. Israel is a foreign country with an appalling human rights record and Britons of all political persuasion must be free to criticise it, without fear of harassment. That's the British way!

Something isn't Quite Right

When loose-knit, non-party groups such as the Democratic Football Lads Alliance can get thousands of protesters on to our streets, but long established nationalist parties like the BNP and NF can only manage hundreds or sometimes only dozens to support their street activities there is something wrong!

Should we put less emphasis on building parties and instead create alliances that would work together supporting various vital causes?

Your comments would be welcome.

Britain Faces Population Explosion

Our Very Identity is Under Threat

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) is forecasting that Britain's population will exceed 58 million in the next ten years, with London hosting over 10 million people. In many English towns the indigenous population will be the minority, prompting the suggestion that the native English could eventually go the way of the Native American Indian!

Approximately half of the increased population (48%) will come about by births; with migrants tantalized by our free NHS and lucrative child allowance now have larger families than us natives.

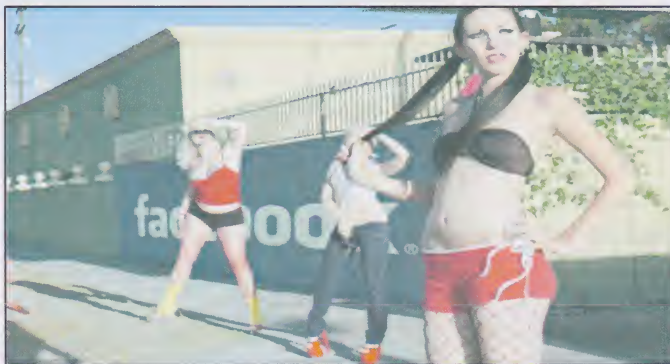

Already in five London boroughs indigenous Britons are outnumbered by residents from abroad. In Boston, Lincolnshire, foreigners now account for 29% of the population, compared with just 3% ten years ago.

Figures up to the end of 2016 show that the migrants make up 9.8% of the population.

The largest recent influx has been from Poland (1.1 million) Romania (411,000) Irish Republic (350,000) India (346,000). All need housing, jobs and all are entitled to free G.P surgery services, free hospital service, free education and free welfare benefits, child care etc. But where are the new surgeries, hospitals, schools and houses to accommodate the influx?

Mass migration brings benefits to Britain including new businesses and new skills we are told. But how many Polish supermarkets, Romanian car washes and Indian restaurants do you know that employ English people?

Because of our growing population our NHS relies on Doctors and nurses from abroad we are told. But we get far more beggars and prostitutes from Romania than we get Doctors and nurses!

Romanian Nurses?

Following the Brexit vote our government agreed that all EU migrants currently here will be allowed to stay. All 3.8 million of them! Despite the promise to regain control of our borders, free movement will continue until at least 2021. All those that continue to arrive in Britain before then, are guaranteed the right to remain! Most of those arriving are young families eager to avail themselves of free maternity care and consequently in most parts of the country native Britons are being out bred. Added to this, in around a third of the country a quarter of the native British population is over 65.

Normally we would welcome the arrival of over a million white Christians coming to live in Britain, but too many in such a short space of time is unacceptable. Free movement must be ended and control of our borders re-established. Work permits, and compulsory health insurance are minimum requirements for foreigners coming to work here. In addition, Britain must adopt a policy of positive discrimination for native Britons. Social housing must be reserved for Britons, subsidised mortgages and an increase in child allowance must all be introduced. Our government has a duty to protect and preserve our identity and culture, and we must ensure they do!

Once, the native North American Indian was master of all he surveyed.

Today the natives make up just 6% of the population. Is this a warning for us?

UKIP Dragged Into Anti-Semitism Row

UKIP have been dragged into the row over recognition of the definition of anti-Semitism invented by an International Holocaust Remembrance group. The definition, which has split opinion in the Labour party hinders criticism of Israel and has potential impact on Holocaust denial.

The row in UKIP started when NEC member, Pat Bryant suggested the party sign up to the new definition to alleviate any suggestion that the party was anti-Semitic. The proposal was endorsed by the party's General Secretary, Paul Oakley.

But the proposal was denounced by fellow NEC member Elizabeth Jones who stated, "No way! We are the party of free speech. We cannot sign any document that restricts that freedom".

UKIP leader, Gerard Batten

UKIP leader, Gerard Batten said he had no problem with the pledge but would not commit the party to the new definition.

Like Labour, the row is expected to continue.

Theresa May's "Chequers Plan" for Brexit has caused an increase in UKIP membership applications, as people leave the Tory party and join UKIP it is claimed.

The latest official membership figures up to April was 21,000 but, a UKIP spokesman claimed this has increased to over 23,000, with over 2000 new recruits joining in just tree weeks.

A recent YouGov poll showed national support for UKIP has increased from 4% to 9%.

Three Out of Five Asylum Seekers Claiming to be Children are Liars!

Incidents of adults posing as children to claim asylum in Britain is on the increase claims an official report.

Over the past three years three out of five asylum seekers claiming to be children were found to be adults. The report, funded by the Home Office, revealed of the 2,336 cases that were checked over a three year period, 1,400 were discovered to be over 18. The worst offenders were from Vietnam, Iran and Iraq.

Amazingly the percentage of child claimants checked is less than 15 per week despite an average 9 of these ultimately being found to be adults.

Adult migrants caught sneaking into Britain and judged to be children are placed in local authority foster homes or children's homes, potentially putting genuine children at risk of bullying and sexual assault. At the age of 18 these migrants are allocated council accommodation.

Illegal Migrants Continue to Target Britain

Numbers Grow by 70,000 a Year

Illegal immigration into Britain continues to grow by over 70,000 a year according to a report by Migration Watch.

The figures are arrived at after discounting the average 35,000 a year who leave voluntarily or are deported.

The largest increase comes from migrants who overstay their visas and do not return to their home country after their British visas expire. These are estimated to be in the region of 84,000 (each year!).

Failed Asylum seekers who "vanish" into our "black economy" before they are deported makeup a further 8500 and those being smuggled in via trains or the backs of lorries are estimated to be in the region of 12,500. Making a total increase each year of approximately 70,000.

12,500 Illegal Migrants are to believed to arrive in the back of Lorries each year

The report estimates the number of illegal migrants currently living in Britain around one million and recommends a £100 million boost to immigration enforcement including the building more detention centres.

Democratic Football Lads Alliance March in Sunderland

Almost 1000 members and supporters of the Democratic Football Lads Alliance marched through Sunderland city centre in support of the local "Justice for Women and Children group" who were protesting about the activities of local grooming gangs.

DFLA Marchers in Sunderland

UKIP leader, Gerard Batten was amongst the speakers who addressed the marchers, but was later criticised for doing so by former leader, Nigel Farage.

A small group of counter demonstrators tried to disrupt the march and police arrested three people. After the demonstrations finished, and the opposing demonstrators dispersed, several anti-Fascists claimed they were assaulted as they left the area

The Democratic Football Lads Alliance held another successful march and demonstration in London on Saturday October 13th.

Labour Surrenders to Zionist Demands

Zionists Definition of Anti-Semitism Accepted

As widely expected, the Labour Party National Executive surrendered to demands by Militant Zionists that they adopt, in full, the definition of anti-Semitism invented by an International Holocaust Remembrance group. The definition, along with eleven examples of statements which will be interpreted as anti-Semitic, curtails free speech and criticism of Israel. Which was probably the main objective!

From the beginning, the campaign has deliberately confused anti-Zionism with anti-Semitism. Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn, a lifelong supporter of Palestinian rights, became the main target. Contacts with Palestinian officials going back as far as 2012 were used as a smear, as were previous anti-Zionist speeches. Corbyn came under attack from all directions. The campaign was orchestrated by the three main Jewish community groups in Britain, the Board of Deputies, Community Security Trust and the Campaign Against Anti-Semitism, all predominately pro-Zionists. From its beginning the campaign effectively split the Labour party, with its Jewish MPs leading attacks against their leader.

Among the highlights of the campaign was the assurances/threats/promises by several prominent British Jews including a former Chief Rabbi, that if Jeremy Corbyn became Prime Minister, "thousands of British Jews would re-locate to Israel". The Jewish Agency for Israel reported that just 213 Jews had left the UK for a new life in Israel in the first six months of the year. Not exactly "Exodus"! Campaign demands expanded, with former Tory Party Chairman, Andrew Feldman, now "Lord" Feldman demanding that anti-Semitism and anti-Zionism be treated as being one and the same. In other words, anti-Zionism must be outlawed from the Labour Party. This of course would end its criticism of Israel!

Not all Jews are Pro-Zionists

On the other side, a prominent trade union leader alleged that the Israeli state was behind the campaign against Corbyn because of his pro-Palestinian stance. The prospect of a fervently pro-Palestinian Labour government under Corbyn is viewed as a real threat to Israel.

Corbyn has also been a strong supporter of the Boycott, Divestment and Sanctions movement which calls for a complete boycott of Israel as a whole, and the Israelis fear this could become official government policy under Labour.

Therefore, Corbyn must be stopped by any means necessary!

Labour Party anti-Zionist activists responded quickly to the Zionists pressure. Within days of the Zionists victory, the leader of the Labour Friends of Israel, Joan Ryan MP, lost a vote of confidence by her local Enfield North constituency, as did Luton South MP, Gavin Shuker. Both could now face de-selection at the next election. More pro-Zionist officials have been targeted.

At the Labour Party conference, delegates made a massive show of support for the Palestinian people and their cause for justice and the feeling of resentment against Zionists was immense. This issue has not gone away!

The whole issue has been massively encouraging for Conspiracy theorists on both the left and right. The Jewish population of Britain is only about 0.6%, approximately 300,000. The Labour MP for Tottenham, David Lammy claims that 90% of British Jews identify as Zionists, but this small group seems to have enormous power. Every national newspaper has had elements of the story on its front pages with large follow ups inside, and the subject features regularly on television and radio news.

To the Conspiracy theorists this is all confirmation that "Jews control the media"

Lest We Forget

Seventy Years Ago Zionists Were Bombing, Kidnapping, Torturing and Murdering Britons

A strange phenomenon over the past two years has been to see young British patriots displaying the Israeli flag at demonstrations. The recent "Free Tommy Robinson" marches were a prime example of this. But what drives our youth to support the arch-Zionists whose predecessors, fathers and grandfathers, treated British nationalists and patriots as their arch-enemy? In the 1930s, the militant Zionist groups were attacking Mosley and his patriotic Blackshirts on the streets of Britain using knives broken bottles and razors. In the 1940s, Zionist terror groups bombed kidnapped, tortured and murdered British soldiers and civilians living and working in Palestine.. Our youth must be made aware of the murderous history of the predecessors of those they now seem to support.

WE WILL NOT FORGET!

In 1946, the King David Hotel in Jerusalem was the administrative HQ of the British army in Palestine. Since 1920, Britain had been mandated by the League of Nations to "manage" Palestine and resolve disputes between Arab and Jew. A dangerous and thankless task. The British mandate would last until 1948 when the State of Israel was formed. The British presence was widely resented by the Zionist Jews, and they regularly launched terrorist attacks against both the British authorities and their Arab neighbours.

On July 22nd 1946, the Irgun an underground Zionist terror gang led by Menachem Begin, who would later become Prime Minister of Israel, launched a terrorist attack against the hotel which led to the deaths of 91 people, including 28 British personnel. A further 46 people were injured.

Irgun terrorists disguised as Arab porters and waiters managed to smuggle 350kg of explosives into the hotel basement, and placed against the building's support columns. The majority of those killed actually died when one wing of the hotel collapsed.

Using a classic terrorist diversionary tactic, a small bomb was first planted in the street outside the hotel. This had the effect of drawing people including first responders, closer to the hotel and the "killing ground". In Jerusalem, the Jewish political leadership, including the Jewish Agency, publicly condemned the attack. This despite the fact that the Irgun terrorists were acting on their orders.

This was not to be the last attack by Zionist terrorists on British troops during the Mandate, but it was the deadliest.

We will not forget!

Wreckage of the King David Hotel

British Sergeants Murdered

Following the end of WW2 in 1945, hundreds of thousands of Jewish refugees fled Europe. Tens of thousands went to Britain, the USA and Palestine. Far from being grateful for the sacrifices that Britain had made during the war, many Jews joined the Zionist terrorist gangs in Palestine and attacked British targets.

In 1947, a Jewish refugee from Austria named Aaron Weinberg had obtained a job as a clerk in the British military camp in North Netanya. It was reported that Weinberg was a friendly, outgoing man who spoke good English.

But secretly, he was also an active member of the Zionist terror group, the Haganah!

Lest We Forget

Weinberg was instructed by the Haganah to spy on two British Army Sergeants, Clifford Martin and Mervyn Paice, who were both intelligence officers in the Intelligence Corps.

Weinberg did his best to ingratiate himself with the men, hoping to glean information about the work of the field security unit to which the sergeants were attached.

The soldiers would often leave the camp in plain clothes and unarmed to accompany Weinberg to a café outside the camp. Often they would not return until after midnight. All this was reported by Weinberg to his fellow terrorists. The Haganah decided to kidnap the soldiers from the café and use them as hostages.

On the 11th of July 1947 a group of Irgun terrorists, taking their instructions from their Haganah superiors armed themselves with guns, ropes and chloroform. Using a taxi owned by a local member, the four armed terrorists attacked the soldiers on their route back to the camp and bundled them into the taxi. It was later reported that one of the sergeants had put up fierce resistance and was badly beaten. The prisoners were taken to a disused factory and locked in a specially built cell in the basement. On news of their disappearance, the British Army mounted an extensive search effort, codenamed "Operation Tiger" to find the sergeants, but to no avail.

The sergeants remained in their cell for almost three weeks facing unspeakable horrors, and then at 6pm on the 29th of July they were taken from their cell to an adjacent room and made to stand on chairs. Their hands and feet were bound and nooses placed around their necks. The chairs were then kicked away. Their bodies were left hanging for 20 minutes before being cut down.

In the early hours of the following day, the soldier's bodies were taken in a terrorist owned taxi to a Eucalyptus grove about 4 km from Netanya. There the battered and bloodied bodies were hung from adjacent trees, partly naked, with their shirts tied around their heads. An anti-personnel mine was placed in the ground near the bodies, designed to kill or maim whoever discovered them.

At 7am on the morning of the 31st of July the bodies of Paice and Martin were found by members of the Royal Engineers following a tip-off. No warning of a hidden bomb was given. As the Engineers began to cut down the bodies the bomb exploded. Fortunately no Engineers were injured but both bodies were horribly mutilated with some body parts being discovered 200 yards away!

Lest We Forget

In Tel Aviv, reaction to the news of the bombing led to anti-Zionist rioting with British soldiers and policemen attacking Jewish property, breaking windows and overturning cars.

As the news got back to Britain there was rioting in several British cities with Jews and their property being attacked. In Liverpool alone, 300 shops were damaged and a synagogue was burnt down.

Just a year later, in 1948, the British Mandate in Palestine ended and the British authorities left Palestine. The only lasting evidence of its presence today are the graves in the Commonwealth War Graves Commission cemetery in Ramleh.

Today, the Zionists that some of our young people seem to admire continued campaigns of murder and terror, this time against Palestinians whose land they occupy. Since April, the Israeli Defence Forces (IDF) have killed over 100 unarmed Palestinian protestors including a baby being held in it's mother's arms, a 62-year old man in a wheelchair and a uniformed nurse treating the injured.

Atrocities seem to come natural to them.

These are not people to admire, and their murderous acts against British soldiers and civilians will not be forgiven and must not be forgotten!

Spain Becomes Latest Target for Mass Migration

Following the decision by the newly-elected nationalist government in Italy to ban migrant rescue boats from Italian ports, Spain has become the latest target for economic migrants.

The left-wing Spanish government, bolstered by generous resettlement funds from the EU has agreed to allow migrants "ferries" operated by some EU states and charities to land migrants on Spanish shores.

Since the Italian government banned the migrant "taxi-service", attempts to enter Italy by boats coming from Libya has dropped by 80%. But, the number of migrants making the 13 mile trip from Morocco to Spain has increased, and 23,000 have arrived so far this year. Numbers are increasing daily, with 1,500 arriving in just one weekend recently.

Spain welcomes tens of thousands of economic migrants

On arrival, migrants are welcomed and provided with a bed, three free meals a day, free medical care and a "foreigners certificate" allowing them free travel throughout the country. News of this warm reception has already encouraged a further 50,000 economic migrants from West Africa to make their way to Morocco, on route to Spain.

Germany Agrees to increase Holocaust Reparations

The German government has agreed to increase funding to Holocaust survivors worldwide by an extra $88 million, thus bringing the annual funding to $480 million. The money will be distributed by the Jewish Claims Against Germany organisation.

The taxpayer-funded increase will lead to "more homecare, food support and healthcare for Holocaust survivors around the world" said a Claims Conference spokesman. In addition, Fifty-five thousand Holocaust survivors living in Europe will get an increase in their special pensions thanks to German generosity.

Hundreds March Through Berlin in Memory of Rudolf Hess

Hundreds of German patriots staged a march through Berlin to honour the memory of former deputy-Fuhrer, Rudolf Hess. Hess, was murdered in the grounds of Berlin's Spandau prison in August 1987 with his death faked to appear suicide. A smaller group staged a commemoration in the Spandau suburb.

Anti-Fascists tried to disrupt the events but were firmly dealt with by riot police.

At the conclusion of his trial at Nuremberg in 1946 Hess told the court, ... "Ich Bereue Nichts" (I Regret Nothing) and this slogan was prominent on many of the banners carried by the patriots.

Thousands take to Streets over Refugee Violence

Over several weekends in late August, thousands of young German patriots took to the streets of Chemnitz to protest about the murder of a 35 year-old German man by two, recently arrived refugees from Syria and Afghanistan. Protestors clashed with police and left-wing groups. Several refugees were also attacked.

Since the German government welcomed over one million "refugees" into the country, public tolerance has turned to resentment as many of the refugees turn out to be violent criminals and economic migrants.

Spanish Government Votes to Desecrate Franco's Grave

In a purely vindictive move, the left-wing Spanish government have voted to exhume the body of Francisco Franco from his grave at the "Valley of the Fallen" mausoleum near Madrid. The body of the Fascist leader has been in the mausoleum since his death in 1975.

Ironically, the Valley of Fallen was conceived by Franco as a last resting place for place for 40,000 people who died in the Spanish Civil war, Work started in 1940 and was completed in 1959. The authorities claim that Franco should not have been buried there in the first place as the monument was intended as a resting place for Spaniards killed during the Spanish Civil war, and Franco died in 1975. They also point out that the body of the Fascist Falange leader, Jose Primo de Rivera, murdered in 1936, will be allowed to remain.

"Valley of the Fallen"

The family of Franco have described the decision to exhume his corpse as "vengeful" and are now faced with burying the former dictator elsewhere.

Spanish nationalists have vowed to make Franco's new resting place "a place of pilgrimage".

The Myth of the “Battle” of Cable Street

For over 70 years, Mosley’s enemies have maintained the myth that the East End of London rose up against the Blackshirts at the Battle of Cable Street and the BUF went into decline. But nothing could be further from the truth

On Sunday October 4th 1936, Mosley decided to hold a mass march through East London, pausing to speak at four separate venues. The march was to be held on the fourth anniversary of the founding of the Movement, and Mosley hoped the accompanying meetings would help drum up support for the forthcoming London County Council elections. The story of the “Battle of Cable Street” has been retold many times. But for the record, the battle was between the police and communist demonstrators.

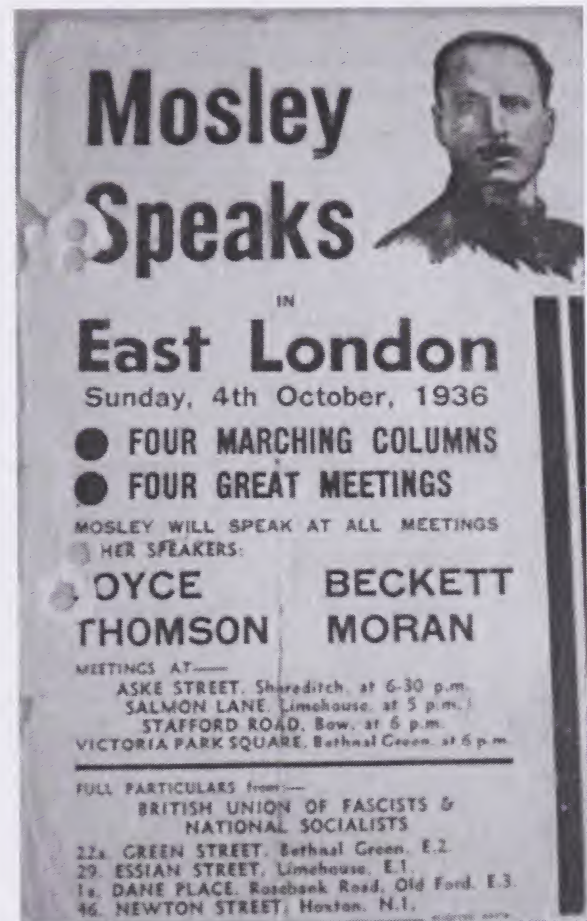

The Battle was between Police and Reds

As serious violence between Communist demonstrators and the police was taking place in Stepney, the Met police Commissioner, Sir Phillip Game stopped Mosley’s march before it even reached Cable Street, and the Blackshirts marched West instead of East, and dispersed after a short rally on the Thames Embankment.

The Communists have always claimed a “victory” on that day, but official police records, now available at the National Archives in Kew, show a different story.

MEPOL2/3043. In East London at the four venues where Mosley was going to speak Blackshirt meetings DID go ahead and Blackshirts DID march through East London late in the afternoon.

Meetings took place at all four venues without Mosley

Special Branch report HO144/21061 gives details of Blackshirt activity at all four venues.

At Aske Street, Shoreditch, 1000 people listened to Blackshirt speakers from 5.30pm to 7.30pm. There was no disorder.

The meeting proposed for Victoria Park Square was moved by police to nearby Chester Street. 1500 people attended and at the end of the meeting uniformed Blackshirts led a one mile march through Bethnal Green back to their District Headquarters. No disorder.
At Stafford Road, Bow, Two Blackshirt speakers addressed a crowd of 300. There was no disorder.

Special Branch Report HO144/21061 continues, Salmon Lane, Limehouse. By 3.45pm there were 5000 people still waiting for Mosley to arrive. At 5 pm, 200 Communists tried to attack the platform but were beaten back by Blackshirt stewards and members of the audience. Fearing further violence police closed the meeting.

Unfortunately, the police evidence was not made public and the Communists continued to maintain that they had "driven Mosley out of the East End".

But their lies were exposed when just three days later on Wednesday, October 6th, Mosley addressed street meetings at the venues that were originally planned.

Special Branch report HO144/21061 records, Mosley spoke at Victoria Park Square where the crowd had grown to 7000 by 8pm. It was noticeable by the salutes that 80% of those attending were his supporters. They marched to Salmon Lane, Limehouse, where the crowd swelled to 12,000 ... 500 in Blackshirt uniform.

It was remarkable in view of the anti-Fascists claims that Mosley had been driven out of the East End that this procession should pass unmolested. In fact at various intervals the Fascist salute was given by ordinary people in doorways or on the pavements.

Mosley was not back ... he had never gone away!

On the 11th of October, one week after the banned march, Mosley addressed a peaceful open air meeting in Victoria Park, Bethnal Green, of 12,000 people.

The establishment, both frustrated and fearful of the growing support for the Blackshirts, introduced the Public Order Act, which banned the wearing of a political uniform. The Blackshirt era was over, but the support for their Fascist policies continued to grow. The London County Council elections of March 1937, saw the BUF poll an average of 19% in the LCC area, including 23% of the vote in Limehouse. Election rules at that time only allowed the heads of households a vote. This effectively prevented Mosley's young East End supporters from voting in what was called a "dad's and granddad's election". In the November 1937 Borough Elections, BUF candidates finished second in Limehouse, leaving a Tory/Liberal coalition bottom of the poll. The Communist "Daily Worker" newspaper noted (3/11/1937) "For the whole of Stepney the fascist vote was 19%, an overall increase".

Perpetuating the "Myth"

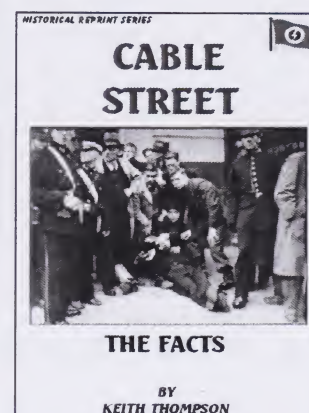

Despite the carnival of murals, commemorative plaques and memorial marches organised by the extreme-left the facts remain ...

Special Branch MEPOL/3043. "There is abundant evidence that the Fascist movement has been steadily gaining in many parts of East London ... the British Union conducted the most successful series of meetings since the beginning of the Movement"
